

JACQUI WATKINS

Secretary | KWT Committee

Jacqui is a Jingili-Mudburra women from the N.T. Jacqui has lived and worked on Wurundjeri Country in the West of Melbourne for over 12 years in health, justice and community services.

Jacqui has 3 deadly and compassionate children and a granddaughter. She is passionate about community development and engagement. Jacqui acknowledges that by supporting and empowering communities through collaborative processes, ensures sustainable support and strengthening of First Nations peoples self-determination.

Jacqui sees philanthropy as a powerful source that can make a difference to First Nations communities across Victoria. Jacqui feels privileged to be part of the KWT Committee, and hopes that her time with KWT challenges stereotypes about philanthropy processes and opens community narratives philanthropy is seen and accessed by the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities.

